

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a detection method for a nervous system disease, which comprises reacting poly ADP-ribose and/or histone H1 with a biological 5 sample to detect an antibody against poly ADP-ribose and/or an antibody against histone H1.